Preparing to Take Your Place at the Table

SPEAKER: Beth Newburger, CEO & President of Epoch Communications

Beth Newburger has built and sold nine different companies, with a board started at each one. This type of experience brings with it vast knowledge on the ins-and-outs of what boards are looking for. At this event, we will gain insight on what to do to get a seat at the table, including:

- Building your board resume
- Networking your way to a corporate seat
- What are you willing to commit – or not!

CRITERIA TO ATTEND:

- Senior-level executive woman
- Interested in learning more about corporate board service

REGISTER: Please confirm you meet these requirements when emailing Sheila Ronning at sronning@womenintheboardroom.com to register.

ABOUT WOMEN IN THE BOARDROOM:

Long before women on boards was a hot topic, Sheila Ronning, CEO and founder, believed in women's ability to serve on corporate boards strongly enough to found Women in the Boardroom. Today, she is recognized as one of the nation's top leadership and board service experts.

Vision of Women in the Boardroom - Create an environment where women can achieve their goal of leadership & corporate board service, while encouraging them to assist & mentor other women along the way

Mission of Women in the Boardroom - Prepare women for leadership & corporate board service by giving them the knowledge, tools & connections to learn, advance & lead
